Your Comments or Concerns

The amount of chemical plants involved in the city of Houston really do make me worry about the quality of our air. As an asthmatic I've always had trouble with air quality and it makes me feel worried due to how many chemical plants we have around us. I understand people have jobs there but the fact that's it's so close to us makes it seem as if it's not healthy for us in any shape way or form.

Your Proposed Solution

All I'm asking is for something to happen whether it be a promise or an act to not worsen the air quality anymore. I would just like to see progress that we are actively trying to do something instead of seeing our air quality get worse. Whether it be through fines or penalties or even a law against it would not matter.
