Your Comments or Concerns

The Texas Commission on Environmental Quality is a joke. Their primary job is to promote industry, not protect our environment. I am a conservative and not a fan of government interjecting itself into business. However, our natural resources, such as clean water, water consumption, clean air, land, etc. are finite and need some protections to ensure they can be maintained for the future. This group needs to be changed so that protection of natural resources is its most important priority and job creation should be removed from its scope of work entirely. Individual citizens should have a commission they can appeal to and have their concerns heard and acted upon rather than completely dismissed as not within our purview. Currently, TECQ is not that commission.

Your Proposed Solution

See comments above. If the TCEQ can not be changed to prioritize the environment over the economy then the name should be changed to reflect their real mission.
