Your Comments or Concerns

I hope that this review process will result in the TCEQ more forcefully evaluating proposals based on the future impact on the environment and on quality of life. Jobs produced and tax dollars earned are not adequate recompense for pollution and environmental damage--how many toxic waste sites will ever be clean? Is facilitating increased production of plastics really a good idea, when traces of them are circulating in everyone's bloodstream already? The kind of world we'd all like to live in is probably now unattainable, thanks to our history of profligacy, but certainly we must be more cautious about what we send into the future.

Your Proposed Solution

My hope is that the Commission will give great attention to all potential impacts of projects, and consider how often unexpected and devastating consequences occur.
